What Does It Mean To Be A NALTEA Member?

Being a NALTEA member means that you subscribe to a serious Code of Ethics. It means that you place high standards in your own work, and expect the same of others. It means you are motivated to have an impact on your industry by joining with others facing similar challenges. It means that you consider yourself to be a professional and take your profession seriously. It means that you are curious about events happening outside of your back yard that may affect your business down the line.

What Is NALTEA Doing Today?

NALTEA is working to build and promote a better abstractor. NALTEA is working diligently to assemble a program of education and certification to help set the serious professionals apart from the rest. NALTEA is working to demonstrate the value of the local, professional abstractor with knowledge of local standards and practices.
